2.75 BEER HELD ILLEGAL BY U. S. SUPREME COURT

Court Also Holds Prohibition Enforcement Act Is Legal.

BEVERAGES CONTAINING HALF PER CENT ALCOHOL BANNED

Decision Is Handed Down In Washington This Morning.

Washington, Jan. 5.—The supreme court today declared constitutional sections of the Volstead prohibition enforcement act prohibiting the manufacture and sale of "beer, wine or other intoxicating malt or vinous liquors" containing one half of one per cent or more of alcohol.

Beer containing 2.75 per cent of alcohol is illegal under the war time prohibition act, the supreme court decided today.

Dismissal by the lower court in New York of injunction proceedings brought to restrain government officials from interfering with Jacob Ruppert, a brewer, in the manufacture of beer containing approximately 2.75 per cent alcohol but alleged to be non intoxicating was sustained.

The court divided five to four, associate Justices Day, Van Venor, McReynolds and Clarke dissenting.

Under the war emergency congress has a right to stop immediately the sale of intoxicating liquor, the court held.

Associate Justice Brandeis, who rendered the opinion of the court said the right of congress to suppress the liquor traffic was not an implied power but a power of expressedly granted.

Justice McReynolds in a dissenting opinion said that the 18th amendment had not yet come into effect and that the federal government had no general power to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquor.

Justice McReynolds took the position that the war emergency under which national prohibition was made effective had passed.

In deciding the New Orleans and Baltimore cases Justice Day in an unanimous opinion held that the manufacture of beer containing 2.75 per cent alcohol was legal until the enactment of the Volstead act.

Indictments brought against the Standard Brewery at Baltimore, and the American Brewing company at New Orleans for manufacturing 2.75 per cent beer before the war time prohibition enforcement act became effective were ordered dismissed.

THAWING OF PIPES STARTS BAD FIRE

Firemen Find Difficult Blaze When Flames Spread Under Weather Boarding and Through Rafters.

An attempt to thaw out a water pipe in a property located at 73 East Church street, occupied by a family named Tiebault and owned by a man named Campbell residing at Columbus, caused a loss by fire at noon today estimated by Fire Chief Louis Bausch at $500.

The East Newark and Central fire companies were called at 11:25 this morning and shortly afterwards a call was made for the North and West Newark companies as it looked like a dangerous fire, with properties in close proximity.

Firemen were told that paper was stuffed behind the water pipes and a match applied and shortly afterwards a roomer on the upper floor was awakened from a nap almost sufficated. Flames caught between the weather boarding and the ceiling and crawled between the studding to the attic and then spread over the entire house, making the fire a hard one for the firemen to cope with. All the household goods were carried from the house and there was no loss except to a few carpets left upon the floor and some of the blinds. The fire was gotten under control at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The building is said to be insured.

REPUBLICANS PLAN CHICAGO CONVENTION

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Plans for the Republican convention here next June were laid today at an executive session of the convention committee of which Alvin T. Hert of Kentucky is chairman.

National committeemen, Republican leaders of Illinois and Republican women from many states also are in conference here to lay plans for the forthcoming campaigns.

More than 1,000 Republicans are here for the conferences. Campaign managers of General Wood, Governor Lowden, Senator Harding, Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts, and other prospective candidates have opened downtown headquarters and are actively canvassing the prospects.

FOURTEEN MORE ARRESTED.

Youngstown, Jan. 5.—Fourteen more "reds," members of the Communist and Communist labor parties have been registered at the Mahoning county jail to be held pending deportation proceedings. This makes a total of 36 out of about 150 questioned and investigated who have been locked up by federal agents. Among them are two women.

Danville, Ills.—Loss from fire which swept Danville business district Saturday night was placed at $300,000.

HIS RESIGNATION FROM SUGAR BOARD IS NOW EXPECTED

George A. Zabriskie.

George A. Zabriskie, president of the U. S. sugar equalization board, will resign in the near future, it is believed, as a result of congress' action in continuing the existence of the board for another year by passing the McNary bill. Zabriskie is opposed to the continuation of government regulation and control.

TREATY DEBATE LIKELY ANYTIME

Ratification of Paris Pact Still Is Most Important Matter Before Senate Berger Fight Will Be Renewed In House.

Washington, Jan. 1.—Congress met promptly at noon today after a two weeks recess over the holidays, with the treaty of Versailles still the foremost of the great array of subjects with which the national law makers were expected to deal before adjournment, probably just before the presidential election next November.

Private conference initiated during the holidays looking to some part of a compromise in the treaty fight were continued and a renewal of debate on the senate floor was expected at any time. No concrete plan under which the senate would resume formal consideration of the subject had been agreed upon, however.

In the senate today the sedition bill of Senator Sterling, Republican, South Dakota, had the right of way.

It had been expected that the house would be called upon to again pass on the election of Victor Berger, Socialist, of Wisconsin, who was re-elected after the house had declared his seat vacant, but Berger was not present when the house met.

CARDINAL PHONOGRAPH COMPANY WILL EXPAND

Among the incorporations announced in Columbus today was that of the Cardinal Phonograph company of Newark for $10,000. The incorporators named were M. M. Richter and C. W. Kellenberger.

The company's plant is in Zanesville but it has offices in the Hayden office building. At the company's offices it was stated that the incorporation yesterday was but the initial step for an enlarged incorporation.

SAYS GOV. COX STARTED MOVE TO END STRIKE

Miners' Convention Meets In Columbus to Discuss Settlement.

OFFICIALS PROTEST AGAINST GOVT. ACTION AS UNJUST

Settlement of Strike Is Not Subject to Action of Delegates.

Columbus, Jan. 5.—Reports on the settlement of the recent strike of soft coal miners of the United States were made here today to the convention of the United Mine Workers by Acting President John L. Lewis and Secretary William Green.

The report declared that officials of the union had "decided to submit to the inevitable, though protesting in our hearts against what we believed to be the unjust attitude of our government."

The action of the officials in ending the strike, miners officials said is not subject to action by the convention, although it was expected some delegates would discuss it.

Governor Cox and John Moore, president of the Ohio Mine Workers, welcomed the 2100 delegates in brief addresses. Both told of efforts made in mission by the government of its com-Ohio to end the strike, prior to the subpromise plan, which was adopted.

Moore told the convention that the movement to end the strike started in this state by Governor Cox, resuled in the calling of national mine officials to Washington and the submission of the governments proposition.

Governor C[illegible] made a strong plea for Americaniz[illegible] and endorsed collective bargaining. [illegible] warned the miners against revolutionary tendencies and said he was opposed to the two radical elements—the revolutionist and the reactionary.

DECLARE GOVERNMENT ATTITUDE IS UNFAIR

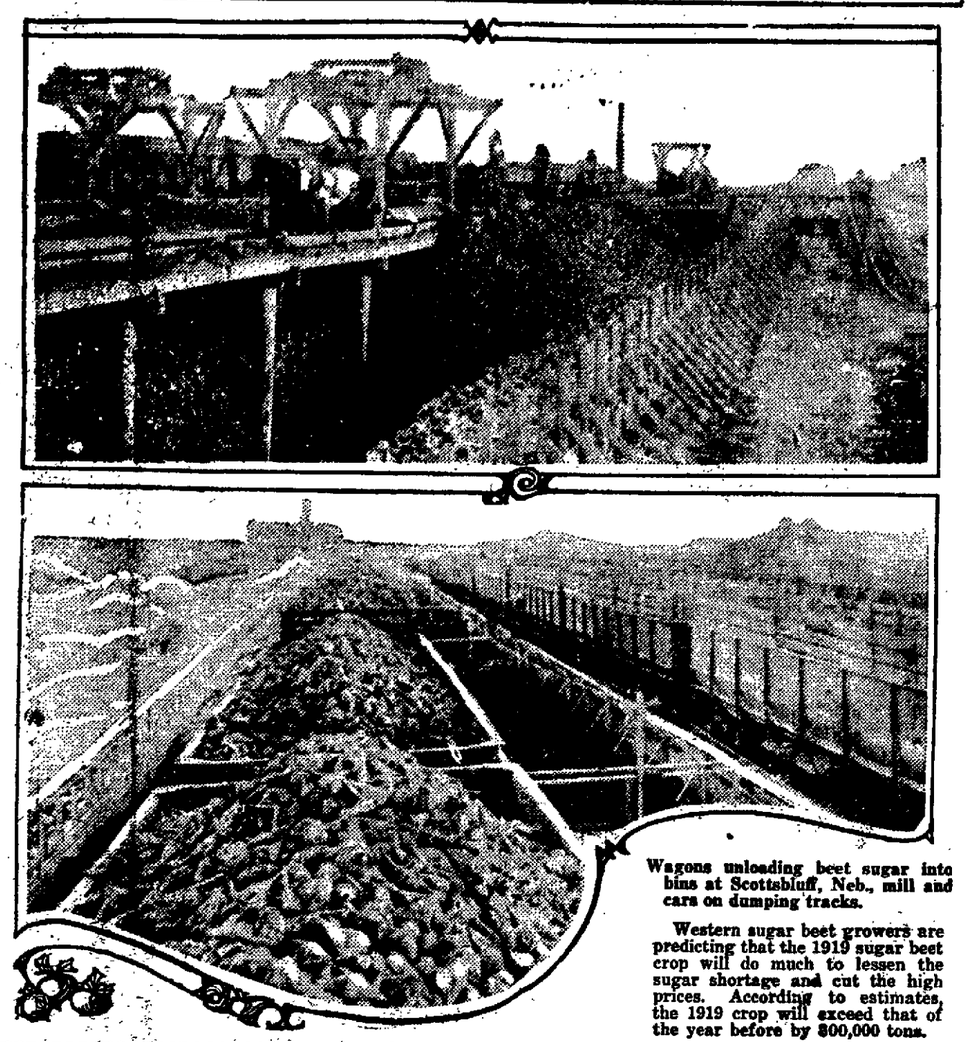

Columbus, Jan. 5.—International officers of the United Mine Workers of America in agreeing to declare the recent miners' strike at an end, "decided to submit to the inevitable," though protesting in our hearts against what we believed to be the unjust attitude of our government," according to the report of acting President John L. Lewis, and Secretary-Treasurer William Green at the special miners convention here today.

The report reviews the miners' controversy from the date of the Cleveland convention up to the present time. Few, if any, developments not already made public are revealed and there is not the slightest hint that another strike is contemplated. The international officers in their report state that "high hopes" are entertained that the decisions to be reached by the commission of there appointed by President Wilson "will be fair and just as to meet with the general approval of our membership." Members of the commission are highly praised and declared to be "men of high character, and fair in their consideration of industrial questions."

International officers, the report states realized "better than the membership of our unions, the purpose and determination of the federal government" and decided to accept the plan

BIG 1919 SUGAR BEET CROP EXPECTED TO REDUCE PRICES

Wagons unloading beet sugar into bins at Scottsbluff, Neb., mill and cars on dumping tracks.

Western sugar beet growers are predicting that the 1919 sugar beet crop will do much to lessen the sugar shortage and cut the high prices. According to estimates, the 1919 crop will exceed that of the year before by 300,000 tons.

HALLADAY CAR WILL BE BUILT HERE NEXT SPRING; PLANT TO BE ERECTED

Offices of New Industry Established Here and Ground Will Be Broken This Month—Expect to Complete Building in 45 Working Days.

The Halladay Motors corporation is to be Newark's newest industry. It is the New Year's gift of the Chamber of Commerce to Newark, and the company expects to be in operation in the city by the middle of April.

The company is now located at Attica, Seneca county, south of Sandusky, and the scarcity of labor and greater expansion needs, caused it to change location.

E. M. Cassel, general sales manager, was in the city today and was enthusiastic in his praise of the town and of the endeavors of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Cassel stated that if the city showed the same interest as the Chamber of Commerce in the city's future, that its future would be assured.

The Halladay Motors Incorporation is not a new company, but has been manufacturing cars for the past 12 years. It puts on the market what is known as the Halladay Six, four models of which are manufactured. It sells for $1985 and is the only popular priced car on the market today which uses genuine leather in its upholstery. A sample car will be on display in the Arcade on Wednesday of this week.

The company will employ from 300 to 500 men and has already selected its site in East Newark, just outside the corporation. A modern building, 60x800 feet, will be constructed. The ground will be broken this month. The company expects to complete the building in 45 working days and it will be ready for occupancy between March 15 and April 1. The building will be modernly equipped in every department. The company will have offices in the Newark Trust building and will continue to turn out cars at Attica until the plant is completed.

ARREST TWO FOR WOOD ALCOHOL POISONING

New York, Jan. 5.—Two arrests which federal officials believe will solve the mystery as to the source of the wood alcohol which caused 100 deaths in this city, New Jersey and New England, were announced today by Harold B. Dobbs, revenue agent.

They were Cosmio D. Ambrosa, a Brooklyn chauffeur, who was taken into custody Saturday in a farm house in the Catskills at Kiskat, New York, where he is alleged to have been in hiding, and William Woller, a Brooklyn garage keeper and printer.

12 WOMEN TAKE CENSUS IN CITY

Enumerators Are Named For Each District In County, Supervisor at Mansfield Declares—Work Is Started.

Atty. Frank E. Slabaugh was in Mansfield Saturday in consultation with W. W. Sharp, supervisor of the census in the 17th district. Sharp informed Mr. Slabaugh that all precincts had been filled in Licking county with the exception of one in the northern part of the county and that he expected to have an enumerator there the first of this week.

Application for supplies have been received by the supervisor from all precincts in Newark with the exception of three and he expected those on any mail. Only a few enumerators have not been furnished supplies and these will go forward from the Mansfield office today.

Newark enumerators will receive four cents per name and 12 women enumerators have been named in the city. They have 20 days in which to complete their task. Country enumerators will receive four cents per name and 30 cents for each farm for which the enumerators furnish statistics. They have 30 days in which to complete their tasks.

SHERWOOD URGES AID TO IRISH REPUBLIC

Washington, Jan. 5.—Consideration of Ireland's struggle for autonomy and independence was urged in the house today by Representative Sherwood, Democrat, Ohio, who spoke in support of the Mason resolution now before the foreign resolutions committee which proposes to recognize a defacto government in Ireland.

"This resolution," Sherwood said, if adopted need not necessarily disturb our friendly relations with Great Britian but it doubtlessly would inspire Premier Lloyd George to give the largest measure of home rule to Ireland. Irish patriots bore an important part in the struggles of the American colonies for independence. Irish blood was shed on every battlefield of the seven years war."

800 RADICALS UNDER ARREST IN DISTRICT

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 5.—About 800 prisoners were in custody of federal officers here today following a second raid yesterday on the "House of Masses" known to the police as a gathering place of radical organizations. Sunday's round up added nearly 300 to those taken Friday night.

Approximately half of the prisoners had been examined early today and those released numbered less than 50.

SOVIET AGENT IN NEW YORK HELD FOR DEPORTATION

Is Arrested On Federal Warrant at Soviet Embassy.

RADICALS ARE PREPARED TO FIGHT EXILE ORDER

Lawyers Engaged to Resist Effort to Rid Nation of Undesirables.

New York, Jan. 5.—Gregory Weinstein, chief of staff for Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, self-styled ambassador to the United States of the Russian Soviet Republic, was arrested on a deportation warrant today by agents of the department of justice. Weinstein, according to department of justice officials, is the most influential Russian communist, next to Martens, in America.

Weinstein was taken into custody at the Russian soviet embassy where he was head of the diplomatic department. An exile from Siberia, he arrived here with Leon Trotzky, Russian soviet minister of war, a few years ago, and is his close personal friend. He was formerly editor of the Novy Mir, the organ of the Russian socialist federation.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Radicals taken in the government raids on the Communist and Communist labor parties, have all machinery set for fighting desperately against deportation, it was announced today at the department of justice. Lawyers have been engaged in practically every city where raids were made and officials predicted they would take advantage of every technicality until their clients actually were aboard vessels bound for their native lands.

In view of this information, assistant Attorney General Garvin has instructions to speed the work of completing the chain of evidence with hich he hopes to make deportations certain. Assembling of the data concerning the radicals' activities present the most difficult problem immediately confronting the government, officials said.

Mr. Garvan said that while the government believed proof of membership in either organization to be sufficient basis for deportation there must be considered the likelihood that many persons held might attempt to show their announced affiliations prior to the government's declaration that the entire alien membership of the Communist and Communist Labor parties were deportable subjects.

Habeas corpus proceedings will be employed in a majority of the cases, Mr. Garvan believed. He pointed out that, in times past, the department has met with habeas corpus proceedings as many as five times before its agents succeeded in getting an individual case finally closed.

Privileges accorded the radicals under present laws with respect to bail also complicates the department's work, officials said. Persons held on such charges as have been filed against those taken into custody in these raids may gain freedom on $1,000 bond. But the two parties which the department is attempting to disperse, are known to have a "slush fund," Mr. Garvin declared, and large amounts of this have been made available for legal defense and bail.

Reports of more arrests dribbled into the department today. These showed that plans of the department to round up the ring leaders of the two organizations were continued today unabated, Mr. Garvin said.

When the raids began federal agents were armed with 4,000 warrants. Not all of these have been served, but from seven cities requests came today for additional warrants. Mr. Garvan said every agent from whom requests have been received in the last 24 hours were supplied with additional warrants.

ACCEPTS $400,000 PURSE FOR DEMPSY BATTLE

Los Angeles, Jan. 5.—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, announced here last night he had accepted an offer of a $400,000 purse from James W. Coffroth for a 45-round fight between Dempsey and Georges Carpentier at Tijuana, Lower California.

"It's up to Coffroth now to sign up Carpentier," said Kearns, "and I understand he has a representative, Charles Harvey, in Europe now, trying to do just that.

"This is the most satisfactory offer we have had. We are willing to accept it on a winner or loser basis, perhaps $200,000 for the winner and $100,000 for the loser. These details will be worked out later.

"Coffroth may not want the motion picture rights, but whether he does or not, we will want a percentage of them and all other privileges."

Kearns announced last night the fight would be 45 rounds and would be staged at Tijuana, Lower California, under the auspices of James W. Coffroth, if Carpentier would agree. Kearns said Coffroth, well known among Pacific coast sportsmen and president of a racing association at Tijuana, had offered a $400,000 purse for the match and that it was the best offer received.

Kearns spoke of a division of the purse on a basis of $300,000 to the winner and $100,000 to the loser, as thoroughly satisfactory to him and stated Coffroth had an agent, Charles Harvey in Europe, attempting to induce Carpentier to sign a contract to meet Dempsey at Tijuana.

Kearns said he thought such a match would draw gate receipts of $750,000.

Dempsey has been in light training for several weeks. He announced some time ago that he would keep in shape condition all the time that two weeks real training would fit him for a fight.

CHURCH IS DESTROYED.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS FROM NEWARK HELP DEVELOP OTHER COMMUNITIES

Chamber of Commerce Manager In Address In West Newark Church Declares That Fewer Than 100 Persons Have Helped Newark to Secure Recent Industrial Plants.

"When the people of Newark assume the proper spiritual position toward the city, they will be interested enough so that they will back the industries of the city, both morally and financially," declared Manager E. D. Leach, of the Chamber of Commerce, last night in an address at the West Side Church of Christ on "The Spiritual Implications of Community Progress." E. W. Thornton is pastor of the church.

"With the enlargement of the Pharis Tire and Rubber company, the location of the Moore Tool and Machine company, the location of the Cree-Becker Oil Well Supply company and other matters which are pending, there has been more industries development in the past three months in Newark than in any like period in its history," Leach continued, "and yet there has not been as much Newark money used in all of these matters as has been lost by Newark speculators during the same period in Wall Street and the oil fields of the west.

"Considerably fewer than 100 persons have contributed directly to these developments. Of course, every member of the Chamber of Commerce has contributed indirectly by assisting in maintaining an organization which has been able to function in carrying on negotiations, but just think what it would mean if, in addition to the money which had been used for industrial development for the last three months, we had also the Newark money which has been lost by Newark speculators, to say nothing about that which has gone out to develop other places.

"It is estimated that two and a half million dollars go out of Newark every year in investment and speculations. If this amount of money was invested in Newark industries for just one year, it would make Newark the most talked of city in Ohio.

"Any concern that is worth having in Newark is good enough to be owned by Newark people and when it becomes known that Newark is backing its own industries, Newark's position as an industrial town will be in fore front.

"The people of Newark should assume a different attitude in regard to the town in dealing with the young people who are reared here. For years the high school has been turning out from 100 to 125 graduates who have been brought up and permitted to believe that it is to their advantage to leave Newark as soon as possible. As a result, practically none of the graduates of Newark's high school remain in Newark. This means that Newark is maintaining her high school for the benefit of Columbus, Cleveland, Chicago and other places, while the citizenship of this city is made up of those of less energy and training or by importations from other places. This is unquestionably a great economic loss to the city.

"The industries and business houses of no city can claim that they have paid their obligation to that community they have found a place for the best trained young men and women in that community. Every young man and woman in our public schools should be given to understand that Newark offers to them the best advantages of any city in the entire country and that as soon as they are ready to leave school a place will be found for them in the industrial and commercial life of the community.

"When the people of Newark assume the proper spiritual attitude toward their city, a condition will exist here which will make Newark so desirable a place that it will not be necessary to resort to bonuses and other monetary considerations in order to induce industries to locate in Newark, for it will be just such a city as every right minded employer will wont as a city in which to locate and develop his industry."

RUSSIAN PRINCE VISITS AMERICA

Prince Michael Cantacuzene.

Prince Cantacuzene of Russia, whose American girl wife is a grand-daughter of President Grant, is now in the U. S. in a secret mission. It is believed, however, that his trip concerns the activities of the all-Russian government, represented by the Kolchak-Denikine forces. Before the Bolsheviki came into prominence in Russia the prince was an officer in the Russian army. The princess is now helping to raise funds in New York to aid Russian civilians.

WILSON TO SEND IMPORTANT WORD TO DEMOCRATS

White House Announcement Says Greeting to Jackson Day Diners Will Be "Important"—May Be Third Term Views.

Washington, Jan. 5.—President Wilson will send "an important word of greeting" to the Democratic dinner on Jackson Day, January 8, it was announced today at the White House.

No information was available at the White House as to the form the president's message would take. Secretary Tumulty declined to amplify the bare announcement that it would be an "important word." Some friends of the president believed, however, that he would take this opportunity to give his views as to future policies.

There was wide conjecture as to whether the president would discuss the third term question. On this, White House officials were silent, but some of the president's friends have insisted throughout that he would not be a candidate under any circumstances. They regard it as probably that he will make this clear in his message.

NEWBERRY ASKS TO QUASH INDICTMENTS

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 5.—Counsel for Truman H. Newbery, United States senator from Michigan, and 124 others charged with violation of the election laws in the senator's election in 1918, today presented arguments on a general demurrer asking that the federal indictments be quashed. The general election laws of the United States were attacked as unconsitutional and it was further argued that "overt acts" enumerated in the indictments were not in fact violations of the state laws.

The government's answer was to be filed by special Prosecutor Frank D. Dailey.

proposed by President Wilson, which called for an immediate increase of 14 per cent. The original demands of the miners called for an increase of 60 per cent in wages.

At the time the acceptance was made, the report continues, it was pointed out to the miners' leaders that the strike had passed from a more controversy between operators and miners over a question of wages, to an issue between the supremacy of law, and the ability of the government to enforce its mandates and decrees.

"In other words, it was no longer a controversy between employer and employe, but instead a test between the strength of a group of working men and the government itself."

The report states that at the time of the Cleveland convention, when the strike order was tentatively issued "no one could forsee the turn events have taken and the necessity in meeting the new and unexpected situations which have arisen. It has been found quite impossible to follow the rigid and inflexible policy laid down at the Cleveland convention. We have been forced to adjust ourselves to a changed situation, not contemplated or considered when the original plans and policies were adopted.

"The Lever law, a war time measure, is still in effect. Under its provisions, the government exercised its war time powers and was fully supported by the judicial, military, legislative and executive branches of the government.

"The court construed the Lever law to mean where two men agreed to quit mining coal they were guilty of a conspiracy and subject to the punishment of the Lever law.

"We are confident that it was not generally understood by our membership that these war time measures were still in effect or that the Lever law denied our membership the right to strike or applied to them in any way what so ever.

"We have endeavored to meet the most trying situations ever presented to the officers of a labor organization, in a broad minded constructive way. We could not afford, at any time, to substitute feeling for judgment when our reasoning powers dictated a right course of action. We would be unfit to lead you or to act for you if we did not decide in a crisis to follow a policy which our best judgment convinced us could best protect the interests of our vast membership and those dependent upon them. We have made our decision based upon existing circumstances and facts, we are confident that time will vindicate our every act and justify the course we have pursued."

John P. White, one of the members of the President's commission, was here today to attend the convention and to obtain from the miners direct their attitude in the controversy before taking up with the scale committee in Washington next week, hearings on the miner's demands.

The miners are not satisfied with the 14 percent advance but are confident the commission upon full investigation will find they are entitled to more, before a wage contract is finally reached. They have gathered a mass of data, relative to the increase cost of living in mining districts, which will be presented to the commission.

The Columbus convention, it was pointed out by the officers, is not called for the purpose of ratifying or rejecting the action of the officers in accepting the proposal of the President. President Lewis and members of the policy committee take the position that there was no other course to pursue. Not to have accepted would have meant defiance of government, they point out. It is expected that the radical element in the convention may take exceptions to the action of the officers in agreeing to the 14 percent advance and the appointment of the President's commission, but they are said to constitute a small minority.

The report of President Lewis and Secretary Green, giving a history of the controversy from the time of the Cleveland convention last September, up to the present date, is expected to be presented to the convention today.

Alleged discrimination on the part of the operators in Alabama, Tennessee, eastern Kentucky, Colorado and parts of Illinois, against union officials, is expected to come before the convention. Miners charge that this discrimination constitutes a violation of the agreement of December 10, wherein it was stipulated that the men were to return to work under the same conditions which prevailed before the strike, with the exception of the 14 percent advance. Secretary Green said the alleged discrimination has been brought to the attention of Attorney General Palmer.

In a statement issued last night, Acting President Lewis replied to a speech made recently by Congressman Schuyler Merritt of Connecticut in which Merritt quoted Lewis as making statements, indicating a combination between miners and operators for control of the coal industry. Congressman Merritt has since admitted that he was mistaken in crediting the statement toasting President Lewis and says the statement was made by former President Tom L. Lewis some 19 years ago. He is said to have written John L. Lewis, apologizing for the mistake. Lewis says he has not yet received the letter. Tom L. Lewis, formerly of Columbus, is now commissioner for the operators of West Virginia, John Lewis says.

"Congress, and Merritt's admission of his mistake is only further proof of how the republic has been misled and misinformed the miners through all of the recent controversy, said Lewis.

STANDARD ISSUES NEW STOCK.

Stockholders of the Standard Oil company of Ohio will meet at Cleveland, January 12, to consider an increase in the authorized capitalization from $7,000,000 to $21,000,000. Part of the new capital is to be used in development of leases and holdings of the company and for equipment for the purpose of increasing production. Of the new stock $7,000,000 will be common and will be issued from time to time by the directors. The remaining amount will be 7 per cent cumulative preferred and is to be offered to the shareholders for subscription share for share at par, $100.

TRAIN WRECK DELAYS MAN'S JOURNEY SOUTH

Mrs. W. Harvey Smith of 45 North avenue received word this morning from her husband that he had arrived at Asheville, North Carolina, about ten hours late owing to a wreck in Tennessee. The engine on the train on which Smith was traveling jumped the track and turned over but the coaches did not leave the track and no one was injured. The passengers were without food and heat for about eight hours. Smith was a machinist at the B. & O. shops and will spend the winter in the south for the benefit of his health. He left last Wednesday.

WIDOW TELLS OF JOY CHRISTMAS BASKET BROUGHT TO HER FAMILY OF FIVE

There was more than sentiment in the Christmas baskets sent out by the Central Christmas committee on Christmas day. Every effort was made to provide, for a time at least, for the physical comforts of needy families in Newark. That this effort was successful is indicated by a letter of thanks from a widow with four children, all under 12 years old. This brave woman is striving diligently to feed and clothe her little ones, but found it indeed a difficult task in these days of high prices. And she is thankful that she is able to work.

She tells of the joy the toys brought to the little ones who would have been without Christmas remembrances but for the generosity of Newark people and the efforts of the Christmas committee. The widow's letter follows:

"I wish through your paper to thank all the givers to the Central Christmas committee. I am a widow, having lost my husband last winter of influenza leaving me with four children, all under 12 years of age, three girls and one boy, who sells papers and goes to school. I clean three business rooms and have four washings to which we make a humble living. I am not complaining, for I thank God I am able to work.

"I doubt if all those who gave to fill the baskets that were passed on Christmas morning really thought of the good and support it would bring to us who received them. Well, here is what it did for us. It gave us the most of our eatables for just one week. It gave joy to my little sad girl who had not set up for over a couple of weeks by bringing her a dressed doll—something the little one had even prayed for the night before, and which I was not able to buy. And today she sets up in bed and we all feel the little dolly was a 'God send' to her. The other toys were nice, but as brother says, 'it was the doll that was our fairy.' The underwear and stockings are so good and warm, and we are thankful for them all. Some children told us that the Elks were the big brothers. I think all the organizations in town are our big brothers this year.

"May God bless them all, is the wish of one who received their help."

A Widow, Wilson street.

BENTLY BALL CONCERT IS ON TUESDAY EVENING

The Walter Bently Ball concert which was to have been given at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening has been advanced one day. It will be given tomorrow (Tuesday) evening so the entertainment will not interfere with the presentation of "Fifty Fifty" at the Auditorium theater Wednesday evening.

When the concert date was announced, officials of the American Legion wired Ball asking him to change his date. He complied, though the change will make it necessary for him to travel all night tonight to reach here in time for the concert.

The officials of the legion will express their appreciation of his gracious compliance with their request, when Ball reaches Newark.

NEW COUNCILMEN TO TAKE OFFICE TONIGHT

The members of council will be sworn into office this evening and will immediately assume their duties. H. H. Scott succeeding R. L. Williams as president, Fred Wolverton succeeding J. R. Ashbrook from the Second ward, and George Gearhart succeeding Lester Newkirk of the Sixth ward.

After the committees have been named by the president the main business of the evening will be the passing of the appropriations for the various departments for the first half of the year. There has been some apprehension that it might be necessary to reduce the forces in the safety department but councilmen are non-committal on the subject.

NEW YEAR KEEPS LOCAL FIRE DEPARTMENT BUSY

The fire department has had a run a day ever since the New Year was ushered in last Thursday. Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the West Newark company and the squad wagon from Central station were called to the home of Arthur Taylor, in Twelfth street, where a small basket containing clothes had been placed too near the stove and caught fire, scorching the paper on the walls and ceiling. The damage was very slight.

Saturday evening at 4:45 o'clock the East Newark department and squad wagon from Central station were called to the Gerber residence in Tuscarawas street, where the floor had caught fire from an overheated chimney. It was soon extinguished with only a slight loss.

15 EGGS A DAY FROM 23 HENS, IN WINTER

Mr. Duni's Hens Increased Every Day. Plan Is Easily Tried.

"We have 23 chickens and hadn't had an egg all winter. In five days after feeding Don Sung, we got four to five eggs a day; in three weeks, we were getting 10 to 12 eggs a day; in five weeks we got 15 to 19 eggs a day."—John Duni, Box 102, Cherry Valley, Pa.

Mr. Duni started giving his hens Don Sung in January, in zero weather. He now keeps his hens busy in cold weather, when hens usually stop laying. A trial costs nothing. Here's our offer:

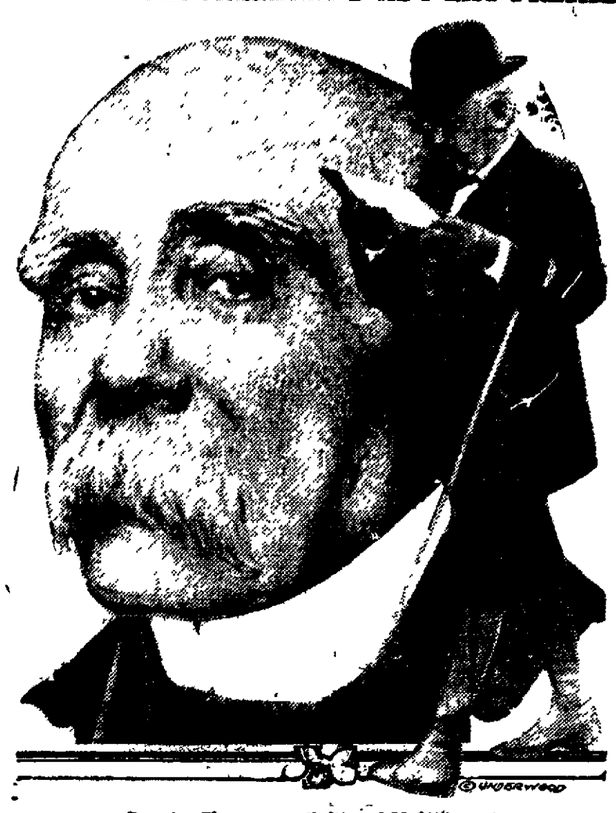

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger and more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer or send 50 cents for a package by mail prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Co., 284 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

Robber River.

The discovery that there is a kind of struggle for existence among rivers is one of the interesting results of the modern study of physiography. A notable example of this contest is exhibited by England's two biggest rivers, the Thames and the Severn. Between their valleys lie the Cotswold hills, and exploration shows that the Severn, by eating backward among these hills where softer strata underlie them, has diverted to itself some of the headwaters that formerly flowed into the Thames.—New York Post.

Stolen Fruit.

From the Keystone, Philadelphia, Pa.: "Good advertising looks for the person not yet ready to buy, as well as the one all ready to purchase. And the man who is continuously pointing out the desirability of his wares from the selfish viewpoint of the buyer will get more buyers into his store than the competitor who does not advertise."

Blame Nightmare on Demon.

In some portions of the continent of Europe nightmare is believed to be a spectral creature that comes and takes a seat on the breast of the unconscious sleeper, half smothering him and not permitting him to move. As those who have suffered therefrom say they cannot so much as bend the little finger during those moments of anguish, it is not surprising that the superstitious explained the condition as a malicious demon crushing his victim.

Tears Benefit the Eyes.

The Italian child is never permitted to rub its eyes. If it bursts into tears it is not repressed, but permitted to have the cry out. This, it is claimed, beautifies the eyes and makes them clear, while rubbing the eyes injures them in many ways.

Warts Are Contagious.

Warts are contagious, as is proved by experiments on their own fingers made by Drs. Udo J. Wile and Lyle B. Kingery of the University of Michigan Medical school. Admonition.

It is a strange thing to behold what gross errors and extreme absurdities many, especially of the greater sort, do commit for want of a friend to tell them of the great damage both of their fame and fortune. For as St. James said, they are as men "that look sometimes into a glass and presently forget their own shape and favor." The best thing for any man is the admonition of a friend.—Bacon.

World's Smallest Violin.

Perfect in every detail, and so small it will lie within a space covered by two half crowns laid side by side, London now boasts of having the smallest fiddle in the world. It was made by the well-know violinist, B. Vandermeulen, and is exquisitely constructed as to scale. The exact measurements are: Violin body, 1 11-16 inches; violin, over all, 2⅝ inches; bow, 3 9-16 inches.—Philadelphia Record.

Somewhat Expensive Meal.

In central Africa in the diamond mines of De Beers a negro miner recently swallowed 21 diamonds weighing 347 carats. As the stones were worth from $850 to $500 each, this little dinner cost the mine owners $105,000. An X-ray is now used on the miners as they leave for the day.

Identified.

The alarming report from Scotland that a parrot had developed rabies has proved to be incorrect. The bird, it appears, was merely endeavoring to imitate the bagpipes.—Punch, London.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

Persons who do not save money have the habit of claiming that, in these times of high prices, it is absolutely impossible to save anything from their earnings. We cannot deny that living conditions are very hard for the majority of the American people. During the last five years commodity prices have gone up on an average of more than 100 per cent. and the upward trend in costs continues. Without attempting to go into any discussion of the causes that have produced these abnormal conditions in our national life, it can be accepted as true that many a family in the United States to-day is having a very hard time to make both ends meet, to say nothing of laying by anything for the future. However, this seeming disadvantage may be turned to an advantage, because it is a well known fact that sacrifices made in a worthy cause always bring their rewards in added strength of character.

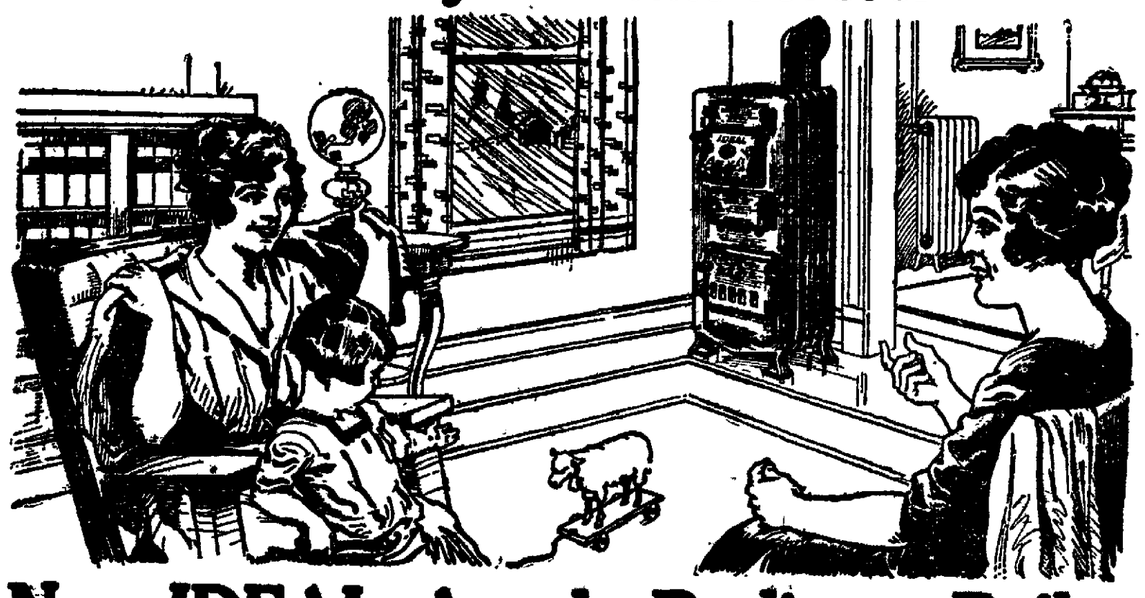

During the war most of our people denied themselves many comforts and even conveniences in order to buy Liberty Bonds. Yet how many of them can truly say to-day that they regret they made these investments. Similar sacrifices are just as necessary to-day as they were during the war.

Saving money for future needs or opportunities is not a matter of what you want to do and cannot, but it is what you must do at all hazards. Those who are not practicing thrift are going backwards. They are wasting their time, their health, their youth, their energy and their opportunities without securing anything but possible superficial happiness in return.

It is a fundamental weakness for any man or woman to say that he or she cannot practice thrift. Those who are succeeding—who are getting ahead in life—have thrift as the foundation of their progress. Even though the amount saved be very small, it is a start in the right direction, and opportunities for more ample savings will develop with the continuation of these practices.

EVOLUTION OF THE BARBER.

The barber shop might be thought to be immune from the modern spirit, but it is catching up with the procession. A suggestion of this modernity is found in speed contests in barbering, now being held in various cities.

In such a contest at Boston the other day, one noted tonsorial artist shaved a man and cut his hair in six minutes and 15 seconds. The job was declared first class.

The leisurely old time barber shop never entered speed contests. Barbers with conversational graces were reputed far and wide. They carried on merry persiflage with waiting customers, while they plasidly stropped their razors and deliberaterately scraped chins.

The old time barber did not worry much about cleanliness and sanitary ideals. But he was strong on the traditional ideals of manly beauty as cherished in his profession. He would never brush a man's hair away from his forehead in the unimaginative modern style. After he had properly prepared a forelock by extensive ablutions of hair oil, he spatted it over the brow, and manipulated it into the classic curves of beauty nearly down to the eyes. The rustic Adonis used to go forth in some glory when thus adorned for conquest!

Also the old fashioned barber was a firm patron of the fine arts, as represented in certain highly colored publications reporting the doings of the crime world.

The modern barber shop is a brisk and alert sort of place, fitted to this hustling age, and very clean and shiny. The barber does not depend for success upon his conversational graces, but upon his ability to cut down the waiting time of his customers. The speed some of the hair clippers will show on a Saturday night would almost break the Boston record. While this is twentieth century spirit, the modern barber has lost some old time flavor and picturesqueness.

THE OLD FOLKS.

Stories are occasionally printed about birthdays celebrated by people 125 or more years old. Census officials and life insurance authorities claim that such reported ages are not authenticated. It is doubtful if any people in this country have so far proved themselves over 106 years of age.

In some days birth records were irregular. Many communities and families never kept them. In those simple times many peope never saw a newspaper, and never knew what was going on. In later years they could not tell whether they remembered a given event, or merely heard it told about.

With all the marvelous improvement recent years have shown in sanitation and medical science, human life ought to be somewhat longer. The new census should show more centenarians that the 1910 count did, and very likely some will break the record

So far as the people who kick on having to pay an income tax, do not object to having their names published among the income tax payers.

Gabriel's horn would attract no attention in these times, as it would be thought to be merely the automobile speeders of Newark.

Scandal and bad news will travel fast, but not so rapidly as the report that some grocer has had 25 pounds sugar come in.

Some people wear their fur coats and big diamond rings to the anti-extravagance meetings.

UNUSED WATER POWER.

Senator Jones of Washington told the United States senate the other day, that the drivers of this country if thoroughly developed, would provide an amount of water power greater than is now furnished by all the coal mined in the country. Yet the senators can look out on the Potomac river, and see the value of 500 tons of coal floating down stream each day in the form of unused water power

Water power is cheap power. Once developed, there is very little maintenance work. Utilized water powers mean cheaper production.

One reason why the water powers are not developed, is that people are losing such enormous sums of money in wild cat speculative enterprises. Another reason is that the people are spending their money, instead of saving and investing it.

TREE PLANTING .

All over the country plans are being promoted for tre planting. Ohio, Kentucky and Pennsylvania, for instance, are setting out many black walnuts. White pine growth is being started on a big scale. You can plant it for $10 to $14 an acre, spend 20 to 50 cents on it annually, and in 40 to 50 years it will be worth $400 to $500 an acre.

While you may not live to see it, the land will become more valuable in a short time by reason of this young growth.

Even a fertile farm usually has little tracts of waste land that would support valuable trees.

Many trees should be planted in Newark during the coming spring. They transform a town residence and make it an abode of beauty.

People are living in basements in many places, owing to shortage of dwellings. Some people like an excuse for spending much time down cellar nowadays.

Question is asked whether married women should take business positions? Well if they don't, how is a hunsband to be supported under present living costs?

LYNCHINGS IN 1919.

(Pittsburgh Gazette Times)

Lynchings in 1919, according to Tuskegee Institute's statistics, numbered 82, or 18 more than in 1918. Georgia mobs took 21 lives, thus securing that state for another year in its position of leadership among the lynching communities. Its closest competitor was Arkansas, with 12. Only 19 of the 82 put to death by mobs were accused of the crime against women which Southern chivalry holds it is impossible to submit to the usual processes of justice. The other cases furnish not only condemnation of lynching, but emphasize the duty of constituted authorities everywhere to vindicate the majesty of law by protecting persons accused of crime and punishing those who interfere with legal procedure.

Twenty-seven of the persons lynched last year were accused of homicide; 20 of the cases being described as murder. It would seem that such offenders might confidently be left to the courts to deal with especially where the accused were Negroes in Southern states; if they were not condemned to death and executed it would be simply because their innocence was established. What makes lynching so horrible, though, is that the savagery of blood lust it so easily aroused that lives are taken for almost no crime at all. A man found under a bed was lynched, so was one who made boastful remarks. An improper letter was written and two men were lynched for it. Mobs took the lives of others for equally trifling offenses. That race hatred was responsible in a great majority of the cases is deducible from the fact that all but seven victims of Judge Lynch were black, and every one of the seven whites was accused of murder.

It is a sickening record that was made in 1919 in a country that is supposed to be governed by law.

Spirit of the Press

Reduce Taxation.

A large number of senators and members of the House of Representatives are agitating for a stricter policy of economy on the part of the national government. Mr. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, urged that economy in the national expenditures should be one of the war cries of the Republican party in the coming election. The President, in his message to Congress, and the Secretary of the Treasury, in his annual report just published, both agree that our tax system ought to be reconsidered. Without respect to the necessity of reducing the amount to be raised by taxation the system of taxation ought to be thoroughly overhauled. No matter how just our system of taxation may be, if we are obliged, through unnecessary expenditures, to raise a larger amount of money than is necessary, the harm to the country will be great; for taxes however just, are always a burden.—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Attacks of Aliens.

Some of the aliens deported from America because of their attacks upon our forms of government sailed away from our shores cursing the country they were unwillingly leaving. Not one we believe, passed from our horizon exhibiting a good mood which would lead any sober-minded student of public events to think a mistake had been made in thus driving from the home they had chosen a set of men and women who seemed to have dishonored that home. These people who hate law and order are probably devoid of all fine sensibilities. Their natures are blunted, cornered—however well some of them may seem to be learned in those things which pass even in our own time as the components of education.—St. Louis Times

That the Samaritan canon of Scripture is restricted to the Pentateuch, or "Five Books of Moses"? The later writings, including the Prophets and Psalms, the Samaritans repudiate as uninspired. The Samaritans maintain that they are the descendants of the once great tribe of Ephraim. Their most precious document is the scroll Pentateuch, which is seventy feet long They assert that the scroll was written by Absishua, the great-grandson of Aaron, and it is believed to be the most ancient copy of the Pentateuch in existence. The few that are left of the Samaritans occupy a part of Palestine about forty miles from Jerusalem, and they observe each year the celebration of the Passover.

Married Strangers

XLIII.—The New Sister-In-Law.

Keitha went down to greet her sister-in-law with a feeling of good grooming which a glimpse of her reflection in the mirror of the elevator did much to enhance. Her confidence vanished however, directly she entered the great palmlined rotunda, the meeting place of all San Francisco, and caught her first glimpse of the smartly garbed California women, who frequent that particular hotel at the tea hour.

By the time the page had guided her to the blue-brocaded Louise Quinze divan where her sister-in-law waited, she was acutely conscious of the fact that her frock was a somber winter touch in a garden of brilliant bird of Paradise. And when a chic figure in white broadcloth embroidered in wonderful shades of dull blue with a large blue velvet hat loaded with paradise plumes and a carelessly-flung ermine scarf around her shoulders rose and came forward, extending a white-gloved hand of welcome Keitha wanted to hide behind one of the luxuriant palm trees.

But the Keitha who had always considered herself superior to mere fashions came to her rescue and she was able to greet her sister-in-law with a quiet poise which increased the latter's latent restlessness and lack of repose.

Anita Bennett was an animated fashion plate. She was svelte and smart to her fingertips with an obviously slavish attention to mode which no observer could miss. Keitha, judging from first impression, would have said that she was not to the manner born, but rather that a certain exuberance of color and figure and vitality had been subdued to a faithful reproduction of the popular conception of aristocracy.

"I bring a welcome in the name of the family," declared Miss Bennett.

Her voice was schooled to a hint of languor which had not been perceptible over the phone and during the ensuing chat over the tea table, it disappeared entirely when she became interested in her subject.

She leaned forward and touched Keitha's cheek with cool lips, bringing a whiff of some fashionable Oriental fragrance with the gesture.

"I dare say you think I am a beast to drag you away from your afternoon rest this way," continued Miss Bennett "I know just how weary crossing the continent makes one—I used to go to New York before the war every year for the opera season. But I simply couldn't put off seeing you for another hour."

"That is very flattering," smiled Keitha, leading the way toward the tea room, "You've no idea how pleasant it is to find that one has a family after all. You know I'm rather a lonesome person."

"But you've a guardian and that's always romantic."

"How did you know?" queried Keitha, surprised. "Have you met Mr. Maxwell?"

"Oh, Dad looked him up right away, we heard you and Les were being married," Anita assured her. "We'd never heard of you, of course, and mother was always terrified for fear Les would marry some of the screen actresses he used to play around with, so we got your pedigree at once. Wasn't it clever of us?"

There was something about her frankness that grated on Keitha's sensitive fineness. It was likewise unpleasantly illuminating to learn that Bennett had a penchant for film stars.

"I hope your fears were quite allayed," she managed to reply somewhat dryly, but with a charming smile.

Anita was not subtle. The smile was sufficient.

"Oh quite, but when you wouldn't come to visit us, we began to wonder if there could be anything the matter with you—some deformity or something of the sort. I'll wire mother this evening that you're charming and she need never worry another minute. Have you succeeded in taming Les?"

"Taming him?" asked Keitha with raised brows.

"That's the word," declared Anita with all trace of aristocratic infection gone from her voice, "Of course you know that Dad cut off his allowance and sent him East to Uncle because he'd got in a terrible scrape here? But Les went in the army and saved himself. Wasn't it clever of him?"

To try to control railroad rates by arbitrarily limiting profits is to put the manager who makes his profits by efficiency and economy on the same level as the one who tries to accomplish the same result through extortionate charges.

—Hadley Railroad Securities Commission; Report to the President—1911.

THE old-time pack-bearer could carry a hundred pounds ten miles a day.

The railroad is the modern pack-bearer. For every employee it carries 2,000 times as much.

Back of each railroad worker there is a $10,000 investment in tracks and trains and terminals, with steam and electricity harnessed like a great beast of burden.

Without this mighty transportation machine the railroad worker could do no more than the old-time packer. But with it he is enabled to earn the highest railroad wages paid in the world, while the country gains the lowest-cost transportation in the world.

The modern railroad does as much work for half a cent as the pack-bearer could do for a full day's pay.

The investment of capital in transportation and other industries increases production, spreads prosperity and advances civilization.

To enlarge our railroads so that they may keep pace with the Nation's increasing production, to improve them so that freight may be hauled with less and less human effort—a constant stream of new capital needs to be attracted.

Under wise public regulation the growth of railroads will be stimulated, the country will be adequately and economically served, labor will receive its full share of the fruits of good management, and investors will be fairly rewarded.

In Loving Memory of Lawrence and Howard Moul

Who died January 5th and 7th, 1919.
There is no death. An angel form
Walks over the earth with silent tread.
He bears our best loved things away,
And then we call them dead.

He leaves our hearts all desolate;
He plucks our fairest, sweetest flowers.
Transplanted into bliss they now
Adorn immortal bowers.

Blessed Homeland, ever fair,
Sin and death can never enter There;
But the soul to life awakening
Everlasting bloom shall wear.

Parents.

In Remembrance.

Still you are kept in mind.

Our Boys and Girls

Corporal punishment is a relic of barbarism, and I soon hope it will pass into oblivion. By this I do not mean that a child should never be punished but physical punishment of any kind should be used sparingly and with the greatest of care. If little fingers have been naughty they may be spatted, but ears should never be snapped or the head slapped in any way.

The usual occasion for whipping at home or in school, is a failure on the part of a child to obey some positive law or command. He fails to respect law and is forced into obedience. But how many parents endow their children with an inherent reverence for law, and teach them from earliest infancy to esteem every law that has been enacted for the good of the individual and the home. Too often the tendency of the parent's teaching is to regard civil regulations only when it is convenient and desirable to do so.

A Possible Risk.

"I thought your wife had decided to name the new baby after her grandmother." "She changed her mind when I warned her that in about 35 years from now the papers would be running her grandmother's name often in the 50 years ago column."

Milady's Boudoir

Eyebrow Beauty.

All actresses appreciate the effect that a well trained eyebrow has on the appearance and character of the face and they train these beautiful accessories to a beautiful face with all the skill they are capable of. The eyebrows are very easily trained to an attractive manner of growth and this attention will surely, in many cases, transform an unattractive face, to a very beautiful one. It is amazing that all women do not take advantage of this means of nature to enhance the beauty of their face.

Eyebrow brushes may be obtained in any shop and a small, fine bristled tooth brush will answer the purpose just as well. With it the brows should be brushed night and morning to promote their growth and to gloss and train them into proper shape. High arched, delicate brows indicate the aristocrat and the woman who wishes to be considered well bred pays minute attention to these truly important attributes to beauty.

If the eyebrows are thin a drop of olive oil or almond oil, or a bit of pomatum or vaseline, should be rubbed gently into them. The eyes need the protection of heavy lashes and brows, so this is care that means health as well as beauty.

Ill shaped brows may be disciplined into the proper outline by the use of a mustage brush with which they should be brushed every night. Dip it into gum tragacanth or quinine seeds, dissolved in elder flower water. Let the gum dry on and wash it off in the morning with warm water. A month or two of this treatment will reduce unruly brows to subjection and will cause coarse hairs to drop out.

Gulf Stream.

The current of water through the ocean, which is commonly called the Gulf stream, is of varying width at different points. Its width, according to the conditions that influence it, may vary from 45 to 100 miles, and its course also varies slightly from time to time. In popular usage the name is often applied not only to designate the Gulf stream proper, but much of the oceanic drift of the north Atlantic.

Silenced.

FATTEST IN THE WORLD FOR HIS AGE; SIX YEARS OLD, WEIGHS 214 POUNDS

Little Pompa Giantino.

Just six years old is Pompa Giantino of Everett, Mass., but for his age he is what might be called well-developed, for he has attained the considerable weight of 214 pounds. Pompa was born of normal weight, but has gained rapidly ever since he came into the world. His mother, Mrs. Paolina Giantino, is extremely proud of the capacity of her infant prodigy, who eats more food in a day than she and her husband consume in three.

In Ordering Corn Flakes

self protection demands that you should specify the best by name.

The best are—

POST TOASTIES

More TOASTIES are sold than any other brand of corn flakes, because they are superior in every sense.

Chicago Grain Review.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Stormy weather moving eastward from Missouri river had a bullish influence today on the corn market, opening prices which ranged from ⅝@1⅜c higher, with May $1.32⅝@1.32¾ and July $1.31¼@1.31½, were followed by a moderate reaction, and then by an upturn higher than before.

Offerings of oats were readily absorbed and the market hardened with corn. After opening unchanged to ⅛c higher, including May at 83⅝@83⅝c, prices sagged somewhat, and then scored a general gain.

Provisions reflected the strength of hogs and corn. Lard led the advance.

Chicago Produce.

Wall Street.

New York, Jan. 5.—Events of over the week end were favorably interpreted by financial interests, judging from the firm to strong opening of today's stock market. Shippings, oils and metals were especially prominent at gains of 1 to 2 points, several of the food and utility issues also displaying strength. Steels and equipments were irregular and mostly under last week's final prices. Rails moved within narrow bounds, some of the Pacifies and coalers reflecting moderate pressure.

Pressure effaced most gains within the first hour, short selling being induced by the low ratio of reserves reported by the federal reserve banks and uncertainty regarding decisions which the United States supreme court is expected to hand down today. Reactions of one to four points accompanied the freer offerings of leading steels, equipments oils, motors, shippings and the specialties as American Woolen. Allied shares made corresponding declines but metals and rubber issues were firm.

EFFICIENCY

EFFICIENCY suffers while the world argues peace, wages and working conditions—and its as true of a bank as other businesses. Let us all pull together for efficiency.

This bank refuses to be blinded by the small things near at hand and not see the very big things just before it. It is a satisfying way of looking at toings, too. Its efficiency today lies in its desire to co-operate with "Business" and render the all-round financial help that Business wants. That is the basis on which its solicits accounts.

AMUSEMENTS

AUDITORIUM.
"The Westerner."

The auditorium for two days commencing today offers a special feature in Stewart Edward White's great photoplay "The Westerners" the story of which is as follows:

Michael Lafond (Robert McKim), an Iroquois half-breed, is driven from the caravan of a band of pioneers for insulting one of the women. Prue Welch (Mildred Manning), wife of a New England scientist (Graham Pettie), who is bound for the Black Hills to study the flora and fauna of the country. To revenge himself, Lafond turns Indian and leads a band of Sioux into the hills. He murders Prue and escapes with her baby daughter, Molly (Mary Jane Irving.) Lafond is unable to complete his revenge by killing Jim Buckley (Wilfred Lucas), the scout who drove him out of the expedition. The half-breed determines to return to the ways of the white man and bides his time. He brings up Molly as his daughter, but his dark plans include the girl's eventual ruin. Fifteen years later Lafond, now the owner of a chain of saloons and dance halls in the Black Hills, comes to Copper Creek to open a new dance hall and brings Molly (Mildred Manning) with him. Here he finds Buckley, a leading citizen of the settlement. Buckley has no recognition of the half-breed but Lanfond lays plans to accomplish the former scout's ruin. Molly, as the only woman in the camp, enjoys the adoration of the male population. Cheyenne Harry (Roy Stewart), a reckless young miner, becomes her chief suitor. Lafond succeeds in his plan to ruin Buckley in the eyes of his fellow citizens. Buckley is forced to fight his way out of the settlement. Lafond, enraged at Buckley's escape, determines to follow and avenge himself Indian fashion.

Heavy Advance Sale.

The advance sale for "Fifty-Fifty" at the Auditorium started off this morning with a large line up. Mgr. Fenberg reports the biggest mail order list so far and from indications S. R. O. should be in evidence.

"Fifty-Fifty"

"Fifty-Fifty" is the title of the delightful musical play in which Manager Carroll and Atteridge will present Harold Corthell at the Auditorium Wednesday, evening, January 7th under the auspices of Newark Post, The American Legion, coming here with the original New York cast from the Comedy Theater. It is the work of Margaret Michael and William Lennox who have used William Gillette's farce "All Comforts of Home" as the basis of their work, while the lyrics and music are by those clever writers, Harry Carroll and Harold Atteridge.

The plot has a jealous husband who takes his family off on a tour, leaving a nephew in charge of a large and luxuriant apartment. This fellow turns his temporary possession to account by renting out the rooms. The tenants are an odd assortment of comic personages to say the least. They produce all the discomforts of bedlam, however for they annoy and assist one another, fall in love and into equally sincere hate, and become involved in a complexity of troubles. The evolution of fun is brisk from the start, yet it maintains a crescendo to the very end.

The humor of the play serves well its purpose of keeping the audience hilarious incessently, with song, dancing and amusing situations.

Herbert Corthell is the featured player with an all star cast.

Special Musical Feature.

Mgr. Fenberg has secured a special musical feature for Auditorium movie patrons for Friday and Saturday of this week in Phil Lyon's "Zarzoleers."

The crying need for something to treat the tired nerves has long been felt in the field of amusement. An attempt to give to just such tired ones a needy novelty is now available in an organization of young men of versatile experience, whose ability to please the most discerning public has been attested to a high degree with "The Zarzoleers."

"The Eyes of the World."

"In my motion picture experiences I have taken a number of unusual hazards," said Edward Peil, who falls off the high cliff in the Clune Production of "The Eyes of the World" which will be shown at the Auditorium theater January 12, 13 and 14, "but I did one stunt to put over that gave me more concern for a few very ticklish minutes than dropping over the edge of the precipice in the flight of the lovers in "Harold Bell Wright's book."

"I was in one of the wild animal pictures that used to be so popular and had to stand with a piece of raw meat on one of my shoulders, placed there as a tempting bait for a leopard. When I looked around and saw this ferocious cat with its eyeballs like coals of fire, I was ready to throw up my job, but it was too late then. The leopard sprang at me, but his main interest was in the meat, and as I had protected my flesh with padding, his claws did me little harm when he landed. The trainer with his big fork was right on the job and the brute, satisfied for the moment with the red meat, gave me time to seek safety."

"But I guess the fall off the cliff in 'The eyes of the World' gave me more excitement at that," continued Peil. "Both because it was so dangerous and so long drawn out. We had to rehearse it time after time to satisfy Mr. Brown, who is a very exacting director, in big or little details, and I think if I had not been pretty badly hurt—in fact knocked out—he would have had me trying for a better effect yet.

"The sixth time, when I went through the branches of the tree, I was doubled up backward and the muscles of my back were so wrenched and the body contusions were so serious that it was weeks before I was able to do any sprinting, I assure you. Realizing the hazards we were taking this cliff scene was put off until all the other scenes in which I appeared had been made."

So realistic and thrilling is Peil's plunge from the cliff that about half of the people who see the climax in "The Eyes of the World," are only half convinced that a dummy was used, although it is plainly shown that Rutledge (Peil) is shot during the fight with King (Livingston) and drops over the edge. There is no chance whatever for the employment of a stuffed figure. To still all controversy, it may be said here that Peil did fall over the cliff, and not only once, but as he says, five other times in rehearsal.

ALHAMBRA
Destiny.

Dorothy Phillips comes to the screen of the Alhambra theater today in her first production since "The Heart of Humanity." Allen Holubar's masterpiece. Her latest picture is "Destiny," based on a celebrated novel of Charles Neville Buck.

Destiny" is a compelling study of present day life. Its characters are human, its motive are simple and elemental. It rises to a climax of great power, and, needless to say, the acting of the star is excellent. Moreover it has a superb cast in her support.

The picture tells of the conflict in the Burton family. Hamilton Burton the son, is fired with ambition. He longs to conquer to achieve wealth and power. Mary his sister, counsels, that they remain on the farm and make sure of the happiness that is already theirs, rather than reach out for more ambitious things.

After the fashion of a number of recent stage successes, "Destiny" shows the results that would follow both choices. The one condition is tragic, the other "happy." So one may take with him the ticket whichever he chooses. This picture runs for 3 days.

Madge Kennedy.

Madge Kennedy, delightful Goldwyn Star is the Alhambra attraction for next Friday and Saturday. This is Miss Kennedy's first appearance for some time and in "Strictly Confidential" she has a part that fits her to a T. Other added features are promised.

GRAND.

Billy Desmond appears on the screen at the Grand today in the greatest picture in which he has ever appeared, "The Blue Bandana." Hundreds of people were delighted with the showing yesterday. The added feature is "Bound and Gagged" presenting George Seitz and Marguerite Courtot and Fatty Arbuckle in "Fatty the Hayseed."

On Tuesday and Wednesday of this week there will be shown "The Broken Butterfly." Maurice Tournier is the producer and that speaks much for the picture. The star in the picture is Lew Cody. The combination if these two men alone places the stamp of approval on the picture. Giles G. Henry appears in a comedy called "Kids."

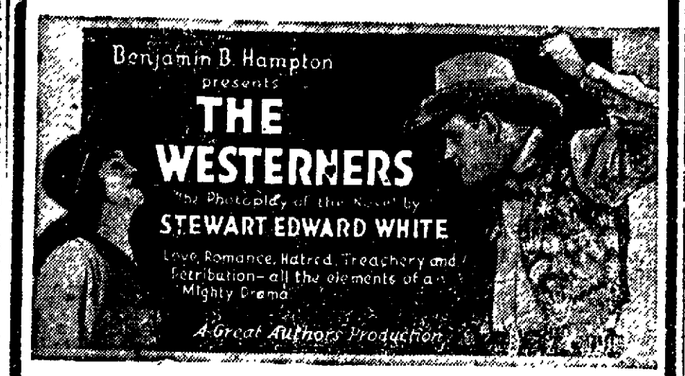

LYRIC.

Wills' Models comedy company is opening a weeks' engagement at the Lyric theater this afternoon. This company is owned by Mrs. Frank M. Wolls whose husband made famous, together with John E. Henshaw and May Tenbrook, the famous old time musical comedy "Two Old Cronies."

No one doubts that Sir Thomas Lipton will make a more congenial mariner rival than Admiral von Tirpitz.—New York Sun.

TELLING THE STORY OF

The ambition of a farm youth who dreams of lording it in the financial world "Out There." The pages of the book of "Might-Have-Been" are turned forward; the youth is seen as a man with his dreams fulfilled. He becomes a Napoleon of finance but loses his soul. He breaks up the romance of his sister with her lover and brings down tragedy upon his house. The chapter of the fairy book is turned back, however, and you are shown the boy-conqueror, having scorned the call of the city, tilling the soil while his sister's romance is happily consummated.

He was assessed $5 and costs by Judge Bolton and remanded.

Sweden's finances are demoralized because she is carrying too many German marks. The German mark was the mark of the beast for all Scandinavia.—Brooklyn Eagle.

WORLD NEEDS THE ELDERLY

Their Ripened Experience and Developed Judgment Make Them of Value to the Community.

Hardly anyone, if indeed anyone at all, holds at thirty-five that he was wiser when he was twenty-five, or says at fifty that he knew more, and had better judgment, when he was thirty-five. Yet young men are prone to look upon older men as being dispensable. If a man could live to be two hundred years old, retaining his mental faculties unimpaired, leading an active life as a member of a profession or a man in business, his ripened experience, his developed judgment, his vista, would make him worth as much as a dozen youngsters in many respects.

Dr. William Mayo of Minnesota, unlike Doctor Osler who retired discomfited and never really explained, when he made his famous declaration and gave to the English language the term "osierized," says old men are the nation's greatest assets. Aboriginal savages said the same thing. The aged Indian at the council fire was worth a score of young bucks on the battle line.

One of the most valuable uses to which the experience of old men is put is detecting the sophistries of extremists and resisting agitators who urge perilous innovation.

Doctor Mayo believes 15 years added to the average life since the Civil war constitutes a task only half done. Another 15 years may be added by medical and surgical science plus education which will lead to early adoption of measures to preserve health.

The slogan, "A short life and a merry one," shortens life. Doctor Mayo says and robs a race of a social element—hale and useful seniors—upon which a value too high cannot be set.

Assuredly, a sane life and a long one is desirable from the point of view of both the state and individual.

The man who believes at fifty, or sixty, or seventy, that his judgment is better than it formerly was is altogether right.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ALASKAN GOLD-LODE MINING

Already Profitable, the Completion of the Government Railroad Will Aid in Its Development.

Twenty-five gold-lode mines were operated in Alaska in 1918, according to the United States geological survey, department of the interior. There was also a production from seven prospects—abandoned mines or small mines that were not in regular operation. The value of the lode-gold output decreased from $4,581,453 in 1917 to $3,473,317 in 1918, owing partly to the disaster at the Treadwell mine in April, 1917, and partly to curtailment of operations, especially in the Juneau district, because of shortage of labor. Southeastern Alaska, especially the Juneau district, is still the only center of large quartz-mining operations in the territory. Next in importance is the Willow Creek lode district. The production in the Fairbanks district decreased materially, as the lode-mine owners of Fairbanks are still awaiting the cheapening of operating costs, especially of fuel, which is expected on the completion of the government railroad. In 1918 the average value of the gold and silver contents for all siliceous ores mined was $1.70 a ton; the average for 1917 was $1.37 a ton. These averages reflect the dominance in the total lode production of the large tonnage produced from the low-grade ores of the Juneau district.

Absence Sometimes Evidence of Tact.
Sometimes it's an evidence of tact when people absent themselves. Only big people can do it. Children and childish adults have to hang around with open mouths and staring eyes test something escape them. They are the omnipresent nuisances that make you want to tell them things. Really big people can afford to let others do a few things without permission. What others do ought not to detract vitally from what you do unless what you attempt is so small that it takes little to overshadow it. Besides it's only fair that others should have an opportunity of showing what they can do. The world will think more of you if you give it a chance to pass judgment on its efforts. And what is more mere obstruction won't stop things anyway. The best way to make things popular is to furnish sufficient unjust opposition. The persecution occasioned makes friends for the other side. —Exchange.

Newspaper Printed in 1788.
A rare copy of a newspaper has come into the possession of the Columbia university library, Dr. Carpenter, acting librarian, announced, in the purchase of a copy of the Pennsylvania Packet and Daily Advertiser for April 14, 1788, from W. F. Smith of Philadelphia. The paper, which was published by John Dunlap and David C. Claypool in Philadelphia, is four pages in size, contains about two columns of news and the balance is filled by commercial advertising. Of particular interest is a brief account of the Columbia college commencement of 1788. The first name on the list of candidates awarded the master of arts degree is Alexander Hamilton, and De Witt Clinton holds the same position among the receivers of bachelor of arts diplomas.

Makers Contribute Their Share Towards Keeping Down the High Cost of Living.

"Your Dollar Back" Still Goes in Nerv-Worth Advertisements.

Some time ago, compelled by enormously increased costs in production, advertising and distribution, we notified druggists that it would be necessary for use to secure greater returns from the sale of Nerv-Worth Two methods offered themselves: a higher price to druggists or a reduction in the size of our bottle The latter course involved delays incident to a change in bottles, cases, etc., so we took the shorter way and advanced the price to druggists. Dealers who bought at the advance put up the retail price; most of the others continued the sale at $1 00 out of older stocks.

When we made the decision first steps were taken to reduce the size of Nerv-Worth bottles, in the hope that thereby we could get back to the old popular dollar price. Those steps have now progressed to the point where the necessary size-changes are in sight

But a chance offers now to do something toward keeping down the high cost of living for the immediate present, at least, and effective Jan. 1, 1920, we have enabled even the druggists who bought Nerv-Worth at the advance to sell the preparation at once at one dollar instead of waiting for the size-changes to be made.

In our plans to reduce the bottle-contents, we are not seeking to cover all the loss entailed by vastly higher costs. To continue giving the public a big dollar bottle of Nerv-Worth we are making a costly sacrifice. Our existing Nerv Worth bottle contains 16 ounces and is one of the largest of its class. The new one will not be disappointingly smaller. Nevertheless, until it comes Nerv-Worth users will get the biggest medicine bargain of the day by buying 16 oz bottles of Nerv-Worth at a dollar. And so again we say

PRACTICE SCHEDULE IS ARRANGED FOR LEAGUE

Arrangement has finally been made whereby all the teams in the Industrial Basketball league will have individual practice in Hickey hall. The schedule places the B. & O. and Heiseys on Monday night, Wehrles and American Motor Truck on Wednesday night, Midland and Holophane on Saturday afternoon. The High school has Friday nights while the Industrial league will use Tuesday and Thursday nights.

There is every indication that tomorrow night's fans will break the record set last week. As the American Bottle Co. has won all its games the Heisey squad will attempt to break their winning streak and bring them down to a tie.

The second game scheduled for tomorrow night finds the Motor Truck facing the Golf men. If the Burkites can upset the fast Truck boys it will break their tie with the Midland Shoe team who nosed them out by one point last Friday night.

Thursday's games as scheduled are: B. & O. versus Wehrle and the Holophane squad versus the Midland Shoe Co.

Wife's Obligations.
The sense of obligation holds a man steady when temptations threaten to overcome him. Every fellow who has learned to respect his mother owes her his noblest conduct. Many a fellow has been deterred from going wrong by the memory of his mother. So we might mention the various agencies that have helped to mold his character. They all contribute toward his development. And to every one he owes obligations. And not least among them is the obligation a man owes the boss. It's not just a matter of pay envelopes, as some suppose. It's a matter of making the business pay. The more you make the business earn the better can the boss afford to pay. So the real man sees to it that he is just to himself, his friends and his employer. This allegiance will save him from going far astray.—Pennsylvania Grit.

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA

Use Soothing Musterole

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister.

Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

IT'S GREAT TO EAT BIG HEARTY MEALS WITHOUT PAINS

Dreco Wrought Wonderful Change in This Dayton Home—Father, Mother and Son Praise The Great Medicine.

Dyspepsia, Gastritis, Nervousness, Constipation, Liver, Kidney and Stomach Trouble Had Cast a Gloom Over Them All.

"I am convinced that my wife, son and myself would have been in serious difficulties by now, had it not been for the prompt and complete relief we got from Dreco," said Mr. E. S. Hanby of 143 Fairground avenue, Dayton, O., in a signed statement.

"Three weeks ago my household was burdened by stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles. My son had laid off from work for a long time from stomach trouble, gastritis and acute indigestion. My wife was weak, pale, nervous, constipated, no appetite and what she ate went into gas, instead of giving her strength. She was nervous, couldn't eat and seemed to be worried all the time. As for me I was bilious, had dizzy spells and headaches. The Dreco bottle sits on the sideboard and all of us take out of it and that is why such a change has come over our home. Dreco has made life worth living. My son is back at work; my wife is in good cheer the whole day long and I feel full of energy all the time. All of us sit up to the table, eat hearty and have no fear of the results. Every one of us sing the praises of Dreco, and I'd almost rather be without food in the house than to be without Dreco. Tell every one suffering from stomach disorders, gastritis, constipation, weak kidneys, lazy liver to get Dreco—it will do the work."

Dreco acts on the vital organs in a prompt and pleasing manner; relief is quick and results permanent.

Dreco is sold by all progressive druggists throughout the country and is highly recommended in Newark by Evans' Cut Rate Drug Store.—Adv.

A similar gift to every person on the pay roll of each of the conerns in which Robert F. and Harry P. Wolfe hold a controlling interest raised the aggregate of Christmas offerings to more than $100,000.

MOTHERS OF OHIO

Conneaut, Ohio:—"Always during expectancy I would become so lame that I would be bedfast, my back would be so stiff that I could not move by myself. I tried various medicines but not until I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did I get relief. I consider 'Favorite Prescription' a perfect tonic for the expectant mother, for it not only strengthened me and relieved me of all pain and lameness but I had comparatively no suffering, and my babies were hardy and strong—absolutely perfect—mentally and physically, which I considered due to the fact that the tonic I took, 'Favorite Prescription,' contained no harmful ingredient."—Mrs. FRANK LUCE.

Elyria, Ohio:—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an excellent medicine for prospective mothers. It is good to take all during the period and if more women would take it there would be more healthy babies and the mothers' own health would be so much better, too. At one time I was miserable, suffered with sick stomach, could not eat anything and retain it, and I was not feeling good in any way when I began taking the 'Prescription'. It soon stopped the nausea and kept me feeling fine right up to the last, I had practically no suffering, and my baby was strong and healthy.

"I have thought so well of 'Favorite Prescription' ever since that I am always recommending it to my friends and all who have taken it agree with me that it is the very best woman's medicine there is."—Mrs. W. H. WOODFORD, 115 Fairlawn Ave.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. Druggists sell it in liquid or tablets. Send 10 cents to the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

PALE CHILDREN NEED GUDE'S PEPTO-MANGAN

Unnatural for Children to be Pale and Thin—Paleness is Sign of Thin, Watery Blood

Pepto-Mangan Makes Red Blood

Prepared in Liquid and Tablet Form—Both Possesses Identical Medicinal Qualities

It is necessary for boys and girls to laugh, romp, play, and enjoy themselves, for it is at that stage of life that the foundation is laid for future health.

Prompt attention should be given to the child who seldom laughs, whose physical condition prevents playing like the other children, whose appetite is poor, and who tires easily.

If the lassitude is due to poor blood, which is often the case, a simple, safe, and pleasant remedy is within easy reach. Gude's Pepto-Mangan is just the tonic for pale thin children. Gude's Pepto-Mangan contains the very ingredients that increase and enrich the blood, enabling it to supply the entire body with the sorely needed vigor, strength and vitality that make happy, romping children.

For the convenience of the public Pepto-Mangan is prepared in tablet as well as liquid form. Both forms possess exactly the same medicinal properties.

When you ask the druggist for Pepto-Mangan, look for the name "Gude's" on the package. If it is not there it is not Pepto-Mangan.—Adv.
